

QA Technologist Wigan

We are currently looking to recruit a QA Technologist to join our busy Technical team. Based in Wigan you will report to the QA Manager and work as part of the QA team to drive continuous improvement on site for product quality, factory standards and quality systems. The role entails maintaining high levels of GMP, ensuring compliance to HACCP, QMS and legislative requirements through a rigorous auditing process.

The site is currently working towards the ISO22000 accreditation; this is an excellent opportunity for an experienced QA within a food manufacturing environment or similar to be involved with driving the on site improvements and a desire for self development.

To be successful in this position you are likely to be a team player, assertive, determined, with attention to detail and excellent influencing and communication skills to drive the quality culture throughout the site. The successful candidate will have attained the following - a food science or technology related qualification and basic training in internal audit and HACCP

Please send your CV and salary details, quoting reference M-QA to:
